

¶ A presser forms each side, bottom, top, handle, etc., separately with a flat piece of clay on plaster moulds, and are then fitted tightly together and made to adhere with water and clay, so that when dry and the mould is removed they are one piece.

The Knowles, Taylor & Knowles Co.
POTTERS
East Liverpool, Ohio

A Presser

IV

CCV-003 · RHKMI

A PRESSER

The Knowles, Taylor & Knowles Co., Potters · East Liverpool, Ohio · postmarked 1908

Source capture: WorthPoint listing 4779879904 · Archive source WP-021

T.P. Calhoun · River & Hills, Kilns & Mills Institute · September 2026

Reconstructed through a black-key-and-palette process informed by historical view-card production.

Labeled interpretive reconstruction; reconstructed pixels are not presented as original photographic evidence.

PROMOTIONAL OCCUPATIONAL POSTCARD · SERIES IV